Main theme of PAQS Congress 2022

Disruption and Transformation in the Built Environment

The construction sector has existed for thousands of years when human settlements started. This long history also makes the sector's traditional practices so ingrained that changes and innovations are not easily embraced. The theme of this congress aims to break out of this mould, to adopt disruptive technologies to improve the construction industry.

The adoption of new technologies need to go hand in hand with transformative delivery. The old design-bid-build model may need to be overhauled, to take in emerging technologies such as virtual reality, block chain and artificial intelligence. This engenders changes in the way quantity surveyors work, and some job redesign may be necessary. Built facilities that are developed based on disruptive and transformative technologies also need to be sustainable and give occupants a sense of wellness and liveability.
